Deacon's Corner

In the beginning of today's Gospel, Jesus sets the guidelines and principles of ecumenical and interfaith dialogue. Our premise for centuries was that those who were not of the Catholic faith were enemies. How many sins against God's love were committed in the name of religion! When we look at our record of sins against the Jews, Protestants, Muslims, etc., the list is staggering. We, who were the preachers of the gospel of love, became content isolating all others as evil, because they did not possess "the truth."

We almost never saw the good that others were doing or the truth and beauty that they were teaching and preaching. In reality, almost everything one hears in a church, synagogue or mosque is the message of God's love. How rich our church becomes when we are in loving and open dialogue with our sisters and brothers of other faiths. We have so much to teach one another. Jesus calls us to tear down the walls that separate and divide us and to learn to live together in peace and mutual service. It is in the time and guidance of the Holy Spirit, when and if, the churches will become one organically and structurally. In the meantime, we have to live and act as if we were already one. We are one when we live in love and service to one another.

As we allow Jesus to melt away all vestiges of prejudices in our hearts, we see the Kingdom of God more powerfully in our lives and in our churches. As we begin to see everyone as friend and sister and brother, we know that Jesus is truly present and with us.

As true as this is in terms of ecumenical dialogue, how much more truthful it is in the internal life of Catholics themselves. We need to learn from, and talk to, one another.

XXVI Domingo: Sé misericordioso y acoge al pecador

La “palabra de vida” de esta semana nos invita a practicar esa virtud tan de moda que es la “tolerancia”, pero entendida de una manera cristiana. Todos caben en la Iglesia –les dice Jesús a sus discípulos– porque todos caben en el corazón amoroso del Padre. Todos, incluidos los pecadores más notorios. Esto nos tiene que llevar a una actitud de acogida y no de rechazo; de comprensión con el prójimo e incluso con sus debilidades y pecados. Sin embargo, esta comprensión -y ahí es donde nos diferenciamos de la manera secularizada de vivir la tolerancia- no significa que tengamos que dar la razón a quien no la tiene, que tengamos que decir que el mal no existe o que, llevados de nuestra comprensión hacia el pecador, debamos decirle que lo que hace no tiene importancia y que puede seguir pecando. Cristo, que es siempre nuestro modelo, comía con los pecadores públicos de su época -los publicanos y las prostitutas- y no dudaba en enfrentarse con una sociedad hipócritamente puritana para defender a una adúltera que iba a ser lapidada. Sin embargo, a los publicanos les decía que dejaran de robar, a las prostitutas que se ganaran honestamente la vida y a la adúltera le dijo que no pecara más. Seamos intransigentes con el pecado y acogedores y misericordiosos con el pecador. Basta con que se arrepienta, con que quiera cambiar, para que reciba ya el abrazo del Padre. No lo olvidemos, todos caben en la Iglesia, con tal de que quieran ser santos, aunque aún no lo sean. Gracias a eso, cabemos también nosotros.
