Deacon's Corner

Crossroads of Love

In today's Gospel, Jesus teaches us with these words, "Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me." Books have been written regarding what it means to "take up one's cross," and oftentimes it is presented as merely dealing with the troubles and difficulties of life; suffering because life is full of suffering; of just "sucking it up." This week, however, perhaps we can look at the cross from a different perspective, not focused only on the aspect of suffering, but seeing the cross as that ultimate and transcendent intersection of the human with the divine.

The cross, as an instrument of torture and shame, provided the opportunity for the infinite love of God to be put on public display for the entire world and for all time. Taking up one's cross also means putting on the love of Christ. It isn't just about suffering; it is about liberation and freedom, mercy and forgiveness. The cross is where all that is wrong is made right; evil is transformed into good. The cross is the triumph of God over sin and death, and is the symbol of our eternal hope. Jesus is asking us to accept it, to pick it up each day, to accept his love, to receive forgiveness, to recognize that we are free only in him, and that it is our sins that bind us in chains.

The denial of ourselves that is required to follow Jesus is about releasing ourselves from these chains, eliminating and turning away from the things in life that get in the way of God's work. Jesus is asking us to let go of what keeps us from God, to press on and follow him in love. Jesus is asking us to carry the cross of love, the cross he carried, where we recognize our own dignity as one created in the likeness and image of God.

Spend time meditating on the cross of love, the cross of freedom, the cross of dignity, where the human and divine are united, and commit to picking up the cross of Jesus each day, letting go of what holds us back from recognizing our own dignity and that of others. And as we deny ourselves of what keeps us from charity, as we chip away at our selfishness, pride, and ego, our embrace of the cross will become less and less about suffering, and more about the sweetness of love and mercy.

So what's with this Sunday Experience...

We are on a journey to develop an Amazing Parish and the experience that our parishioners have on Sunday is very important. Of course it centers on the Eucharist and the Celebration of Mass. It means we need great homilies, great music and great hospitality. We asked, you answered, we listened! Okay, so we aren't there yet....this is a journey and we are on this journey together. Last Sunday I hope you will noticed some changes. No worries though, we aren't done. There will be a staff member available in the pavilion and church during Sunday morning Masses and once complete, we will make the rest of our ministry brochure booklets available to you. We are also working on the completion of our Pavilion Makeover. Thank you for supporting our parish.

We also have a new area in the back of the pavilion where you will be able to purchase tickets for events, sign up for the festival, pick a name from the Angel tree, purchase Christmas Cards and many other important activities hosted by our ministries. Sunday Experience Celebration

Now these three remain:

Faith, Hope and Love.

But the greatest of these is Love

Thank you for sharing your Sunday with us last week. We had a great turnout and we really had that “good old parish” feel to it. Your participation was awesome and so many of you shared your interest in ministry. You should have received a call last week to follow up. If you didn't, please give Jim a call in the parish office at ext. 112. Thanks again and thanks for joining us on our Amazing Parish Journey.

Each of you should use whatever gift you have received to serve others, as faithful stewards of God's grace in its various forms. 1 Peter 4:10
